UNIQUE VALUE TO CUSTOMER

ADI Energy provided energy benchmarking to more than 30 buildings for the City and School District of Lowell, MA.

As an Energy Star partner, ADI Energy provided the City and School District of Lowell with the development of quantitative and qualitative indicators through the collection and analysis of energy-related data and energy management practices to compare their energy use and performance with similar building facilities in the US. These indicators help guide the City and School District of Lowell towards achieving greater energy efficiency.
